Psychology has a long history. The ancient civilizations of Egypt, Greece, China, India, and Persia all engaged in the philosophical study of psychology. In the Enlightenment of Europe, psychology attracted many people's attention and became a popular topic. After that, psychology gradually developed into a modern science in the 19th century.

Today, psychology is still being studied by many researchers and has been widely applied in different industries, so in 2016 we were thinking of launching the new journal Psychology Research and Applications (PRA), which will be dedicated to the latest advancements in psychology research and application, and provide an online publishing platform for psychology researchers who need to share and exchange their research results and opinions worldwide. Like all the other journals of the Isaac Scientific Publishing, this journal will follow the open access policy and will be peer reviewed.

The preparation work of the journal took a long time, and the editorial board was formed by the end of 2017. After another whole year of hard work, the first issue of the journal is finally released, and we are proud to say that every paper of the journal has been seriously treated!

We want to express our sincere appreciation to our Editor-in-Chief, Prof. Gabriela Topa from the National Distance Education University of Spain, and to all the editorial board members! Your great effort guarantees the correct direction of the journal and the quality of every paper.

We also appreciate the efforts from all the peer reviewers. We rely upon the commitment, expertise and judgement of our reviewers to maintain the high standard of our papers. Our success is impossible without the help of the reviewers.

We are also grateful to the authors who trusted us and submitted their manuscripts to this newly created journal. We will continue to work hard and smart, and cooperate with you to create a high standard, successful journal.
